Description

All perceivable text content should be included in an ARIA landmark.

Perceivable text content refers to text that can be perceived by users of assistive technology – some of which may be invisible to sighted users.

Learn more

Landmark roles provide information about page structure, and can help assistive technology users with in-page navigation. Having text outside of the landmarks will make it more difficult to navigate to for some visitors.

There are 8 standard landmark roles defined in WAI-ARIA. Page sections may be given a generic region role if other ARIA landmark roles aren't appropriate.
